e springs have valuable medicinal properties as major, such as curing broken bones, arterial sclerosis, burns, rashes, states o gitation and other nervous ailments.

classic architectural component of the Japanese lifestyle is the onsen, the hot bath, which refreshes the senses, lifts the spirit nd promotes health and hygiene. The onsen can be a natural pool in the garden or an indoor bath with a view of the greener utside. It is the way to regenerate and relax in the common thermal waters.

seems that Japan is one of the original of bathing tradition, especially for spiritual and well being. Japan originates hot-spring athing cultural which exists popular nowadays. The Japanese are extremely fond of a hot-water bath. Further more, it seem aking in hot-spring bath is major activity of the nation However, Japanese onsen bathing varies in mechanic and style. Som e soaking in hot spring, some are soaking in mineral. And another interesting style is soaking in waterfall pond, called Takiyu athing among inspiring waterfalls hidden in remote mountain areas has been places of adoration and pilgrimage since earlies story in Asia. The water and mountain have a yin-yang relationship. To the Shinto, the waterfall is a deity, or god. Monks iests, shamans, and ascetics have long bathed at waterfalls for spiritual purification before entering mountain shrines o ndertaking arduous tasks, and to replenish their healing and divining powers in the presence of the water god.

o matter who takes a bath in the mid of natural waterfall pond will not only touch the freshness and coolness of the falling tid raying over the body, but also experience a natural massage through its consecutive falling rhythms.

athing among the natural surrounding, such a waterfall bathing, not only perceive the sight of natural beauty but also reach th ice of nature, which help to easily approach to absolute serenity. The flesh and spirit will be retreated with a full of relaxatio nd peaceful rejuvenation.

is realized that bathing in natural source offers foremost values of well being. Onzen, the Takiyu is then taken place to be on the ultimate bathing innovations. Takiyu is inspired to offer the highest benefit to the users, within the concept of bathin nong waterfall. Its practical and smart design with the intellectual accessories fully support the users to approach peace an renity, as spiritual of bathing.
